New principal hired to lead New Brockton High School

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Coffee County Board of Education met for a special meeting Wednesday, June 27, at noon, and the hire of new principal for New Brockton High School was approved by board members.

This was the final meeting for superintendent Terry Weeks. He retired at the end of June, and new superintendent Kevin Killingsworth stepped into the role on July 1st.

In presenting personnel matters for the board to approve, Weeks noted that he and Killingsworth had worked closely together in selecting two administrative recommendations for the board to consider. Weeks said since these new administrators would be answering to Killingsworth as superintendent rather than him, he felt it important to make sure Mr. Killingsworth had a say in the matters as well.

Weeks said it was his recommendation, along with the recommendation of Killingsworth, to employ Alonzo Barkley as a probationary principal for New Brockton High School. He also recommended the employment of George Miller "Mil" Tatom as transportation supervisor for the school system, and this includes duties of facilities coordinator and safety coordinator.

These two matters and several other personnel recommendations were approved by the board during last Thursday's meeting.

The other personnel matters approved included

- Three certificated personnel resignations were accepted. Jon Cooper resigned as a high school teacher at Kinston; Rene' Donaldson resigned as a math teacher at Kinston; and Chris McVay resigned as an English language arts teacher at Zion Chapel.

- Four additional employments were approved. Anna Stanley was hired as a teacher at New Brockton Elementary; Taylor Hatcher was hired as a physical education teacher at New Brockton Elementary; Stephanie Clafford was hired as a science teacher at New Brockton High; and Emily Herbert was hired as an English language arts teacher at Zion Chapel.

In regards to classified personnel, Weeks recommended and the board approved the employment of Melissa Lindstrom as custodian at New Brockton Elementary.

The superintendent also made board members aware of several coaching changes that had transpired recently with the school system.

THURSDAY EVENING STORMS LEAVE DAMAGE BEHIND...A strong line of thunderstorms moved quickly into Coffee County and Elba last Thursday evening, June 28, and high winds reportedly knocked several trees down in the Elba area. Many residents were without power for several hours Thursday night due to the storm as well, and electric crews worked diligently to make necessary repairs and get power restored as soon as possible. Several areas in the City of Elba were affected but most customers had their electricity restored by midnight or shortly thereafter. The storms also caused some property damage from trees hitting houses to falling on vehicle (as shown above). The storms knocked this large tree down on an unoccupied truck parked in a resident's yard on Highway 87 N. (Troy Highway) in Elba.

BICENTENNIAL TRAVELING EXHIBIT OPENS IN ELBA...Making Alabama. A Bicentennial Traveling Exhibit* presented by Alabama Humanities Foundation made its long-awaited debut for Coffee County earlier this week at the National Security Conference Center in Elba. The exhibit displays 200 years of Alabama history and beyond. This impressive display blends artistic collages, interactive computer tablets and an audio medley of song and spoken word to tell the story of Alabama – from becoming a territory to achieving statehood. It also conveys a message of "Hope" in its presentation about the future. In April, the exhibit began its 19-month tour, traveling to all 67 of Alabama's counties. Four exhibits have been built, and they will travel the state concurrently so that all counties will be able to experience this historic event in that time period. The exhibit will be in Coffee County at the National Security Conference Center from Wednesday, July 4, through Wednesday, July 25th. It will be open on Monday – Saturday from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Above, several Coffee County dignitaries and officials gathered for a ribbon cutting earlier this week marking the opening of the Bicentennial exhibit in Elba.

City of Elba officials say FEMA flood buyout program of properties is showing progress

City of Elba officials said last week they had received unofficial contact regarding the FEMA property buyout program from the December 2015 flood that the Priority #1 (8 properties), Priority #2 (7 properties), and Priority #4 (10 properties) applications comprising a total of 25 properties have passed through the primary Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) review and are currently undergoing the final Environmental and Historic Preservation (EHP) Review, which is a positive development.

"We are hopeful these applications will be formally approved by FEMA in September or October," according to a press release from Mayor Mickey Murdock's office.

The Priority #3 (10 properties) application was sent back to Elba last week requesting further information on one of the properties, but that needed information already has been collected and sent to the Alabama EMA to process and submit to FEMA. Therefore, Priority #3 should be in the final EHP Review phase soon, officials said.

The other eight (8) applications (Priorities #5 through #12) that are part of the overall project have been out of the City's hands for several weeks and are in various stages of review.

"The City of Elba appreciates the patience of the affected residents and property owners," noted the press release. "With over 100 properties included, the project scope is complicated and the information required is immense, but we hope that much needed resolution will begin to occur soon to the affected areas."

Elba educators attend Bicentennial School Initiative program

As part of the Bicentennial School Initiative, Elba City Schools' assistant principal Jason Tucker, along with Elba Elementary teachers Pam Mitchell and Kelly Wilson recently had the opportunity to spend 3 ½ days at the Solon Dixon Forestry Education Center in Andalusia, Ala.

The Elba representatives joined other Alabama educators amid 5,300 acres of forests, swamps, springs, and river footage.

While there they learned more about majestic long-leaf pine and its important role in the state's history. This professional development allowed them to participate in hands-on activities, field trips, and receive numerous classroom resources that will equip them to engage Elba's students and lead celebrations as Alabama's 200th birthday is remembered this upcoming school year.

Leslie Hussey named Elba's new Police Chief

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The Elba City Council met Monday evening, July 2, and made a decision on appointing the City's next chief of police.

Upon the request of council member Rolanda Jones, the council entered a 40-minute executive session prior to Mayor Mickey Murdock making his recommendation for council members to affirm.

After reconvening from the executive session, the mayor recommended 35-year law enforcement veteran Leslie Hussey to take the helm as Elba's police chief. A motion to affirm was made, and approved. Rolanda Jones was the only council member to vote against the mayor's recommendation.

Hussey has worked with two agencies his entire career – the Elba Police Department and the Coffee County Sheriff's Department. He began with the Elba PD in 1983 and then worked as a deputy with the Coffee County Sheriff's Department from 1985-1997 when he returned to the Elba Police Department.

He was serving as an investigator with the Elba

Elba Police Chief
Leslie Hussey

Police Department at the time of his appointment to police chief on Monday night.

Hussey began his service as police chief Tuesday morning, July 3rd. He said he had a staff meeting called for 7 a.m. Tuesday morning, and he was ready to hit the ground running.

"I just look forward to the opportunity I have been given to serve the people of Elba as their chief of police," Hussey said.

The next regular meeting for the Elba City Council will be Monday, July 9, at 5:30 p.m.

NOTICE:

The Monday, July 9, Coffee County Commission Meeting has been cancelled. The next scheduled regular meeting for the county commission now will be Monday, July 23, at 9 a.m., in New Brockton.

Area Happenings

THE DAY WIREGRASS CHAPTER 99, located in New Brockton, Ala., will meet Thursday, July 26, at 6 p.m. in the New Brockton Senior Center. The group will be nominating officers for the upcoming year at the meeting. For further information contact Charles Lobdell at 334-718-5707.

THE COFFEE COUNTY CONSERVATION DISTRICT will conduct its July Board meeting on Tuesday, July 10, at 10 a.m. The meeting will be at the Alabama Forestry Commission building, located at 1155 E. McKinnon, New Brockton, Ala.

ALABAMA STATE FORESTER RICK OATES WILL BE SPEAKING at The Enterprise Chamber of Commerce Agribusiness breakfast Friday, July 13, at 8 a.m. Oates' topic of discussion will be the economic benefits of Alabama timberlands. The breakfast will be held at the Enterprise Farmers Market, located at 521 N. Main St., Enterprise.

Elba City Schools thanks Jason Tucker (Assistant Principal), Pam Mitchell (4th Grade ELA/Alabama History Teacher), and Kelly Wilson (3rd Grade ELA/Social Studies Teacher) for taking time out of their summer to participate in the Bicentennial School Initiative professional development workshop held at the Solon Dixon Forestry Education Center.

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

"Our country is not the only thing to which we owe our allegiance. It is also owed to justice and to humanity. Patriotism consists not in waving the flag, but in striving that our country shall be righteous as well as strong." ~ James Bryce

A company in Finland is starting a Sing-along Shuttle taxi service that only accepts singing as payment. The emission-free rides are operated on electric cars. The shuttle service will begin operations at a festival running from July 6-8th. From there we don't know what will happen... if too many of the songbirds compare with yours truly, it will soon shut down! This may be a for real operation or a short time gimmick to promote the company, which is an energy giant that is real big in promoting the use of clean energy.

The shotgun killings in the Maryland newspaper office last week of course made headlines, probably around the world. There were the warning signs about the man arrested for the horrors, but jailing everyone who "might" be a danger to society would double the inmate count in the federal prisons and very quickly violate America's cherished freedoms. Also, the experts note that every time some nut does something like this, it motivates some other nut(s) to mimic the action and get their name in the headlines. They don't think far enough ahead to realize it means their death or many years of prison. We mourn with the families directly impacted by this shooting as we do with all the others but don't know how to put a stop to the mess. We also note that these nutty folks are turning to shotguns more and more often. It is suspected in this corner that they believe the characteristics of a shotgun blast make it more deadly than the much-maligned automatic rifle. This shift also puts a puzzled look on the face of those who advocate laws banning automatic rifles as they struggle to stop all these killings.

It did not surprise us when a reporter for the attacked newspaper responded to the question, "What are you going to do now" or something like that and he quickly said, "Get out a damn newspaper." Following one of the Elba floods a reporter from somewhere asked us, "Why we went ahead and published in spite of the flooding in our office?" After a brief pause she added, "And don't tell me it is because that is what you do." But this is what we do - just like that reporter in Maryland and even all these years later that is our dedication and we have no better answer.

Along with the killings in that newspaper office last week, we experienced the deaths of two more newspaper professionals - right here in Alabama. One, an editor, was involved in an automobile accident and died a couple of days later in spite of the heroic efforts of medical doctors. The other was a young man who openly fought depression on behalf of others for years, only to lose the battle himself. All the above events bring home the fact that our life, and those of our families, can be changed forever in a split second.

~ House takes steps to rebuild our military ~

Guest Editorial by U.S. Representative Martha Roby

Over the last year and a half, our unified government has taken big steps to unleash our economy and foster growth here in the United States. Because of this work, our economy is strong today.

In fact, since the enactment of our historic tax overhaul six months ago, more than one million new jobs have been created. Because of this work, businesses are growing, Americans are working, and our economy is strong.

Now, we must do the work required to ensure that our military is strong, too, especially after the damaging sequestration cuts and funding limitations put into place by the Obama Administration. As a member of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, I have been grateful to have a seat at the table as we've worked to properly fund our military through H.R. 6157, the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, which recently passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 359-49.

I was proud to vote in favor of the legislation, and I spoke on the House floor to urge my colleagues to support it, too. Alabama's Second District is home to two of our nation's finest military installations, Maxwell-Gunter Air Force Base in Montgomery, and Fort Rucker down in the Wiregrass. I am especially glad that this funding bill provides the resources to support their critical missions.

H.R. 6157 contains an overall amount of $674.6 billion in military funding. This amount covers important funding for Army Aviation programs important to Fort Rucker, including resources for four additional Lakota helicopters, 58 additional Blackhawk helicopters, and 66 additional Apache helicopters. The bill also provides support for other key Alabama programs, including additional funding for a total of three Littoral Combat Ships that are built in Mobile, resources to upgrade the Stryker Vehicle, and strong funding for missile programs, including THAAD, the Hellfire, and LRASM. Also importantly, the bill allocates funding for 93 F-35 aircraft, some of which will soon be flown by the 187th

Red Cross asks donors to help prevent summer blood shortages

The American Red Cross needs help to bring back the A's, B's and O's.

This is not a typo. These letters represent blood types, and the reality is that during blood shortages these letters do go missing from hospital shelves. The American Red Cross urges donors of all blood types to give now to help prevent delays in patient care this summer.

More than 1,000 partners across the country, from small businesses to leading national brands, have signed on to join the #MissingType movement and raise awareness about the critical role of every blood donor.

Upcoming blood donation opportunities

• Covington County - Andalusia - 7/5/2018: 1 p.m. - 6 p.m., St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1307 East Three Notch Street

• Coffee County - Elba - 7/9/2018: 11 a.m. - 4 p.m., First United Methodist Church, 403 East Davis Street & 7/26/2018: 11 a.m. - 4 p.m., Elba Church of Christ, 715 North Troy Hwy

• Covington County - Opp - 7/27/2018: 11 a.m. - 6 p.m., Opp Senior Activity Center, 500 Brantley Street

A blood donor card or driver's license or two other forms of identification are required at check-in. Individuals who are 17 years of age - in most states - (16 with parental consent, where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood.

High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements.

Fighter Wing at Dannelly Field in Montgomery.

This bill is of critical importance to our national security and the missions in Alabama's Second District. By passing this legislation, the House has kept our promise to rebuild our military and support our service members. I'd like to share a few more reasons why this bill is so very important.

First, it provides a 2.6 percent pay increase to our men and women in uniform - the largest raise they have received in nine years. Our service members sacrifice their own personal safety to protect us, and they deserve this pay raise.

Second, the bill allocates $34.4 billion for the Defense Health Program so troops, their families, and retirees can receive the care they need. This program includes funding for cancer research, psychological health research, and more.

Third, it addresses our military readiness problem. It is no secret that our military faced damaging cuts under the Obama Administration that have significantly hindered readiness. This bill makes investments in training, maintenance, and other military readiness programs.

Fourth, the bill upgrades our military equipment. The legislation provides more than $145 billion to upgrade and secure military equipment across all branches of the military, including replenishing our Naval fleet.

Fifth, this legislation supports counterterrorism efforts. The bill directs funding towards our military's current operations against terrorist organizations by supporting additional personnel, facilities, and equipment. Our country still faces real and serious threats across the globe, and it is imperative that we enable the Pentagon to not only plan for today, but to be prepared for emerging threats around the world.

The bottom line is that the Fiscal Year 2019 Defense funding bill continues our efforts to rebuild our military after several years of harmful cuts and hollowing out. Now, we are making sure the military has the tools and resources it needs to rebuild. One of Congress' most fundamental constitutional duties is to "provide for the common defense." This important legislation fulfills that responsibility and ensures that our military not only remains the tip of the spear, but that it grows stronger and well-equipped to face whatever challenges come our way.

ALL-NEW SAVORY ROTISSERIE-STYLE CHICKEN CAESAR

Alabama Department of Public Health offers some recommendations to prevent infectious disease outbreaks at camp

Summer camps provide a great opportunity for children and teens alike to make lasting friendships, while being physically active and developing life-long skills.

Although the goal of summer camp is to keep children healthy and safe, it is not unlike school or day-care settings where children and staff can become sick if proper handwashing is not practiced. Often these camps provide children with the opportunity to participate in nature and water activities, which expose children to germs that thrive in these environments.

Within the past few weeks, three separate outbreaks at summer camps have been reported.

The most common ways in which illnesses can spread in these settings include food, water, animals, person-to-person, mosquitoes and ticks. These outbreaks are still under investigation, but diarrhea or vomiting has been reported as the primary symptom.

The Alabama Department of Public Health (ADPH) would like to provide some basic control measures to campers and staff alike in these types of settings.

“Parents, it is recommended that you keep your child home if he or she has been sick in the two weeks prior to them attending any type of summer camp,” Epidemiologist Amanda Ingram said.

When sending a child to summer camp, think about packing some basic supplies that will give him or her a head start at preventing illness including:

- Disinfecting wipes that contain bleach
- Insect repellents that contain 20 percent or more DEET
- Light-colored clothing.

Finally, parents and staff should stress the importance of washing hands, rather than using hand sanitizers, as those products are not effective against illnesses caused by viruses (such as influenza and norovirus). In the event soap and water are unavailable, use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer that contains at least 60 percent alcohol to reduce the number of germs on hands.

To report an outbreak, please contact the local health department or ADPH district investigator.

Alabama tax amnesty application period open

The Alabama Department of Revenue (ADOR) reminds taxpayers that the Alabama Tax Delinquency Amnesty Program of 2018, created by Act 2018-153, began taking applications on July 1.

The application period runs through Sept. 30, and eligible taxpayers can submit applications at alabamataxamnesty.com.

The Alabama Tax Delinquency Amnesty Program applies to eligible taxes due before, or for tax periods that began before, Jan. 1, 2017. All applications must be submitted electronically through the Alabama tax amnesty website.

The website also provides all the information taxpayers may need on the program and answers to frequently asked questions.

The amnesty program will be available to eligible taxpayers who have not been contacted by the department within the last two years and are not a party to a criminal investigation or litigation in any court of the United States or Alabama pending as of March 6, 2018, for nonpayment, delinquency, or fraud in relation to any Alabama taxes administered by the Department.

Most taxes administered by ADOR, with the exception of motor fuel, motor vehicle, and property taxes, are eligible for the 2018 Amnesty Program. This includes, but is not limited to, corporate and individual income, business privilege, financial institution excise, consumers use, sellers use, withholding, and sales taxes.

All penalties and interest will be waived for approved amnesty applications.

Taxpayers who believe they may have delinquent tax liabilities in Alabama should consult with their tax advisers regarding their eligibility for the tax amnesty program.

For more information on taxpayer eligibility, eligible tax types, leniency terms, the application process, and more, visit alabamataxamnesty.com or email amnesty@revenue.alabama.gov.

FIREWORKS [Galatians 5:13:26]

It's fun to watch fireworks. In the last few days we will be watching fireworks celebrating the birth of our nation. It's fun to watch how these fireworks start. They start as nothing special, then they shoot up as bright lights and loud noises becoming something spectacular to see. Soon the noise and lights are gone and all is still.

Some Christians are like fireworks. Maybe you did really well at times of the year, focusing on Christmas and thinking about Godly things. Maybe when you became a Christian you were that way. You were excited about studying your Bible and telling people about Jesus, but soon started drifting away from God... burning out.

In Galatians 5:13-26, the Bible talks about very bad things to do...things we should have no part of. It talks about sexual sins, hatred, anger, envy, and the list goes on. These are things we should stop doing because we might become like fireworks. To be a bright light for a minute, then quickly go out. We need to walk with God every day. We need to do this because it helps us develop the characteristics that Paul mentioned in verse 22 of our Bible reading. There he mentions love, patience, kindness, goodness, gentleness, self-control. Many of us know these things to be called the fruit of the spirit. What are you doing? Are you letting your light shine before men, and thereby letting them see your good works before your Father in Heaven. Matthew 5:14-16

I hope we are not like the fireworks, and practice fireworks Christianity, but we will be consistent and strong in your service for Christ. I hope we will give our time talent and treasure to God and be a bright light for Jesus in our community and be what God would have us to be around others. We, as Christian people, should be an influence for good to happen here and throughout the world. ~Philip

by Linda Hodge, Editor

A diagnosis of cerebral palsy for a child sounds like something that would be a nightmare for most parents, but it has been anything but that for Colby and Nichole Capps of Elba.

Their daughter, Cate, was diagnosed with cerebral palsy two weeks after celebrating her first birthday. She is age five now, and both Colby and Nichole will tell you that it does not bother Cate at all, and part of that is because she has been in therapy for so long.

"When we tell Cate's story, I always give Nichole all the credit because she noticed Cate not using her right hand when she was only like 4-6 weeks old," Colby said. "I kept thinking she was fine. She could do anything she wanted, but Nichole kept pushing and pushing with the doctors until they agreed and set us up with a physical therapist."

Nichole said when Cate began to crawl, she noticed that Cate would tuck her right arm and only use her wrist.

"At that point, it became more apparent there was an issue," Nichole said. "Physical therapy immediately said yes there is an issue."

From there, the Capps were referred to a neurologist in Montgomery, and that is when they received the official diagnosis, only two weeks after Cate turned a year old.

Colby and Nichole said Cate's is a mild case, so, it is not as noticeable as some.

"Cate's stroke wasn't traumatic," Nichole said. "It had to have happened in utero, and we just did not know."

Nichole said one thing that has made their journey a positive one is that they have been blessed with exceptional therapists along the way and those therapists have helped guide them.

"They were put there by God. He was in it from the beginning," Nichole says with confidence.

She said the first therapist they had thought Cate would benefit from Constraint Therapy, and she referred them to Children's Hospital in Birmingham. That is where they met Dr. Paola Mendoza, who Colby and Nichole both refer to as another God-send for Cate.

"Dr. Mendoza said yes to Cate being a candidate for Constraint Therapy, and we had her evaluated for it at 16 months of age," Nichole said.

Colby said Nichole thought Cate was too young at 16 months to do constraint therapy, but the therapists knew better. The also noted the therapists Cate has were all taught by the man who invented Constraint Therapy.

Cate was put on a waiting list after being identified as a candidate for Constraint Therapy, and she began the therapy in January 2015 after turning 2-years-old.

"We have definitely been blessed with out therapists and doctors all along the way," Colby said.

Nichole added that she believes part of it is being blessed with such a great community that rallies around them.

"And, we pray," she said. "God opened doors and put people in our journey that have been a blessing to us."

Colby added, "We went from two people that knew absolutely nothing about what was going on. I remember sitting in the parking deck [at the hospital] in Montgomery going from saying your kid had a stroke before she was even born - I won't say your worst nightmare - but from that to putting yourself back together and saying okay what are we going to do next."

For Nichole, she said it was validation.

"I had been saying the whole time that something was not right," she said. "Cate is a stubborn girl. She will find a way. She is resilient, and because she is the child she is, it was hard for others to see."

Colby said the cerebral palsy affects her quality of life, but it is not something that is going to get worse over time, and knowing that helped him as well.

"Going to Birmingham was the best thing we ever did," he said. "It's a 3-hour drive for us up there and they help any way they can. The way they take care of you is amazing."

Since beginning constraint therapy at age 2, Cate goes to Birmingham for two straight weeks each year for the therapy. To strengthen and force her to use her right arm, therapists constrain her stronger left arm in a cast for those two week. This forces her to use the right arm, improving her strength and coordination.

For constraint therapy to work, Cate has to attend therapy every day for those two weeks.

"She is literally doing therapy 24/7 during those two weeks," Nichole said. "She is so exhausted because she has to use that right arm, and she also is mentally exhausted."

The first time Cate had therapy, the Colby and Nichole said they had no idea what to expect. Not being able to come back and forth to Elba everyday, Nichole and Cate stayed some with friends in Alex City the first couple of nights, but she said Alex City is still an hour away and that too was exhausting.

Colby said he remembers talking to Neil Grantham, a lifelong friend of his about Cate's therapy, and the boarding arrangements they had with friends. Neil also has cerebral palsy.

"Neil told me they had a fund set up in his name at Ham United Methodist Church, which was created after his car accident," Colby said. "They paid for a hotel [close by Cate's therapy facility] for Nichole and Cate to stay for three nights. Knowing your family is taken care of was a piece of mind thing for me."

Nichole said the therapists soon asked why they were not staying at the Ronald McDonald House, and she said she was not aware of that facility at the time. Again, they were just learning the ropes of it all. And, there was a waiting list for the Ronald McDonald House also.

"Turns out though that all I had to say was that we were on Constraint, and they work you in," Nichole said. "We got in on Friday of that first week and had the second week there too."

They have been staying at the Ronald McDonald House ever since when it is time for Cate's yearly therapy.

"I just cannot say enough about the people God has placed in our lives," Colby said. "And, when you get to the Ronald McDonald House, it is just amazing!"

Nichole added, "As long as you are there, you are welcome to stay at the Ronald McDonald House."

Colby and Nichole said all the House asks for is a $10 donation per night, and they also accept the pop tops off of soda cans.

Colby said his teaching schedule finally allowed him to stay a full week with Cate this January - just the two of them. He said that probably opened his eyes more than anything regarding her therapy.

"In the past, I would see it day to day, but this was my first time being on the front-line for an entire week," he said. "It really opened my eyes. Sometimes you think you have a child with a disability and it stinks, but it probably has been the biggest blessing in my life."

Both parents agree...Cate can do anything she really wants to do. She played t-ball this Spring.

"She struggles with it, but it doesn't slow her down," Nichole said. "She acts like she is one of everyone else. She doesn't care. She goes on about her business. She wants to be like everyone else, and she does it."

Colby said a lot can also be said for her friends and the kids her age.

"She was in Pre-K this past year, and the kids encourage her to use 'righty'," he said.

Nichole said Cate is more aware of her condition now.

"She's five," she said. "She will see something she wants to do and we tell her she has to make righty stronger to do it. It's just her life."

Colby added, "She's just your regular 5-year-old girl. She plays right along with her friends, and they play with her just the same."

Cate completed her fourth round of constraint therapy this past January. Next year, she will start going for therapy in the summer since she will be starting school in August and both her parents are teachers.

"It's all she knows," Colby said. "And, she loves going to the doctor!"

the school.

Following approval of the personnel recommendations, the board also approved one-year probationary principal contracts each for Danny Branch, principal at Kinston, and Alonzo Barkley, principal at New Brockton High School. Weeks reminded board members that they along with superintendent Kevin Killingsworth would be negotiating 3-year principal contracts with these two men at the end of the one-year probationary time, if they choose to continue employment.

Also during the board meeting, board members, upon recommendation of the superintendent, declared an emergency situation for New Brockton Elementary and New Brockton High schools to allow for the negotiation and purchase/lease of portable classrooms for those schools. Weeks said enrollment is expected to increase at both schools for the upcoming school year, and the board needs to move on this to have those set up by start of school on Aug. 6th.

Weeks said as of last Thursday, it appeared enrollment at New Brockton would increase by at least 93 students.

Lynn Otto, with the Alabama Department of Examiners of Public Accounts reported the most recent audit result, and she said 'no findings' were reported from this audit.

The next regular meeting for the Board of Education is set for Thursday, July 12, at 5:30 p.m.

Our grandson Lawson continued his 'wet and wild' summer last week with a visit to the splash pad in Elba and said going to the pad is a lot more fun when his friends are there. I have yet to join him in a visit to the splash pad, but you bet I will before long and I will also get wet and join in the fun.

For what it is worth....

*** The Elba Tigers had a busy week with two seven-on-seven competitions last week and while new Elba head coach Pate Harrison made it clear he really didn't put too much emphasis on the summer competitions, he did make it clear that he was a little upset over the fact some of the players didn't put an emphasis on winning when they got a little hot and tired. Coach Harrison stated that the team would compete in everything it did for the rest of the summer and that losing would have consequences, which sounds like the time has come for the Tigers to grow teeth. Coach Harrison said the offense looked good at a camp in Elba and the defense continued to learn and improve, while he admitted that in a camp in Troy his team was a little out-matched at times as it competed against 7A foes. The fact there is no running at the competitions really gives the secondary a chance to get in lots of work, and with the change in defensive philosophy this season every little bit of work helps. Elba will compete in one more seven-on-seven event after a break and also has plans to host an opponent for a one-on-one type day of work. Talking with Coach Harrison gets me fired up about the upcoming football season and I am already ready to watch the Tigers in action.

*** The summer All-Star season may be winding down, but don't tell that to the players and coaches on the Coffee County Angels as they are making final preparation for this weekend's state tournament, in Troy. The All-Stars will compete against Zion Chapel for the right to advance to the Dixie Softball World Series, in Louisiana, and the girls from Elba and New Brockton have their sites set on making the trip. The tournament will be held on Friday and Saturday, and all Coffee County fans need to head up to Troy and support these nine and ten-year-old girls.

*** In closing.... thousands of people from all across South Alabama and the entire nation were saddened last week with the passing of Brantley's Alex Wilcox. The fact Alex was a high school softball standout and battled cancer late in her high school career and during her freshman year at Mississippi State made the announcement of her passing go nationwide, but locally her passing made all our hearts ache due to the fact she was such a beautiful person that always had a smile on her face and had such a positive outlook on life. She was truly an 'Angel' here on earth and has made Heaven an even brighter place. Here is a short excerpt from a poem entitled "God's Garden" that I feel is perfect for this special young lady...

"God looked around His garden And He found an empty place. He then looked down upon this Earth, and saw your tired face. He put His arms around you and lifted you to rest. God's garden must be beautiful, He always takes the best."

Elba Tigers enjoy busy week at camps

The Elba Tigers had a busy week on the football field last week as they hosted a seven-on-seven camp on Wednesday and then traveled to Troy on Thursday to compete in the annual Wiregrass Seven-On-Seven tournament, at Troy University.

"I am not real crazy about seven-on-seven camps," stated Elba Tiger head coach Pate Harrison, "but it is good for the players to get reps at their positions in actual game type situations and since we are still learning a new system I guess last week was a valuable learning experience for all the players."

"We had a great day in the camp at Elba and won four of the five games we played," added Harrison, "while up at Troy we competed against 7A opponents, and while we held our own we were outmanned at times. We have installed a new defense from the one used here in the past couple of years and the camps helped the secondary get used to the new calls and helped it recognize formations and various coverages. The secondary did get better the more it was on the field and it was great for the players to get in the reps on the field against other players. At the camp in Elba every single player on the roster, both junior high and varsity, got the chance to play. Everyone didn't get in at Troy due to the level of competition, but the younger players learned by watching their peers."

"A lot of teams actually put in plays and formations just for seven-on-seven competition," said Coach Harrison, "but we didn't change anything and simply worked on the things we needed to work on. Everybody got on the field and on tape, and while playing so many younger players cost us the game we lost in Elba, it was more important for us to watch all our players in action."

"Our offense really looked good at the camp in Elba and scored a lot of points," added Harrison. "We ran very few formations and did basically what we did in the spring game as far as passing plays and formations go, but the players did a good job and several of the players really caught our eye. Up in Troy we were a little disappointed with the play of a couple of older players that have to step up and be leaders, but we let them let them know what their roles are on and off the field, and expect them to step up and assume their roles as summer workouts continue."

"We held competition for offensive and defensive linemen at the camp here in Elba," said Harrison, "and I thought it went well. The players worked on one-on-one and five-on-five pass rush drills, had a tug of war competition and all the players were very physical despite the fact they were in shorts. We spotted a few players that need a little extra work, but all in all our players got after it and looked good."

"I think one of the biggest things we learned at the camps was to always be competitive," said the first year Tiger coach. "In the game we lost at our camp it seemed like some of the players acted like it didn't really matter if we won or lost, and that isn't acceptable. In the future we are going to compete in everything we do, even in the weight room, and our players are never going to be satisfied being second best. We are going to compete in the weight room, on the field when we run, and in drills. We want this team to adopt the mentality that it wants to win in all it does, and we are going to be winners."

Coach Harrison stated the team would get a 10-day break from practice for the July 4th holiday, and then get back to work.

"It is good to let the players get in a little vacation during the summer," said Harrison, "and the break should help them rest up and get ready for the long stretch that leads into the season. We have had a very good turnout in summer workouts and the players have shown a willingness to work and improve in all they do. We had a good month of June, and while we did share some of the players with baseball and basketball, we still worked hard and improved in many areas. The intensity of the coaches will pick up when we get back to work in July due to the fact the summer is half over and we can actually point to a date that we will kick off the season. We will work hard on conditioning the week we get back due to sports week, but that doesn't mean the workouts will lose any intensity. The players are all ours now, and we have to make certain that when we pull on the pads in August we are ready to go."

"We have a calendar in the dressing room that has the first day in pads and the first game of the season circled," stated Harrison, "and to be ready for those dates we know we have to work hard and be prepared. We have a goal, and while it takes hard work to achieve that goal, we will never back down from hard work and plan on reaching that goal."

PATE HARRISON

All-Stars set for state tournament

The Coffee County All-Stars will be looking to add the title "State Champion" to their resume this weekend when they compete at the Dixie Angels Traditional State Softball Tournament, at the Troy Sportsplex.

The tourney will be a two-team event between Coffee County and Zion Chapel, and will be played on Friday, July 6, at 7:30 pm, Saturday, July 7, at 11:00 am, with an if needed game set for Saturday at 8:00 pm.

Dixie Softball divides its 'Angels' division into Traditional and X-Play, with competition in both divisions. The divisions have minor rule differences and are intended to give all players of various skill levels the opportunity to compete in tournaments.

The Coffee County All-Stars include Leilani Perdue, Kimberlyn Tran, Kayleigh Richards, Megan Tindol, Kirstyn Ramirez, Gabriella Eubanks, Brooklyn Downing, Anastasia Caldwell, Ayrika Caldwell, Jaden Caldwell, Alexuss Faulk, and Si'Nia Smedley. The team is coached by Joe Simmons, Ronnie Caldwell and Mitch Downing.

The winner will advance to the World Series.
